8 Americans Killed, 173 Wounded;
Damage Estimated at $80 Million

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON (AP) — The mighty sweep debris off of another. U.S. air base at Da Nang was. Six F4C Phantom jets, each reeling today from a Commu-worth nearly $2 million, were nist rocket attack that left 8 destroyed and 10 more were Americans dead, 173 wounded heavily damaged. Two Marine and 42 airplanes crippled or F8 Crusader jets and three Air Force C130 cargo planes were wrecked at a cost of $80 million in the five-minute Communist barrage of 120mm and 140mm rocket fire Friday.

It was the third raid on the base in the last five months and, said one U.S. spokesman, "the worst."

The deadly accurate attack, apparently an effort to cripple the U.S. air assault on North Vietnam, also wrecked four Air Force enlisted men's barracks. Seventy of the 150 wounded were kept in the hospital.

Fifteen planes parked at a corner of the base received minor damage from flying shrapnel, said Air Force Col. Robert Malov of Coral Gables, Fla. commander of the base's 366th Tactical Fighter Wing. U.S. officers estimated that 50 rockets were fired, some 120s and some 140s. The 140mm rocket is the largest in the enemy arsenal.

Other Bases
Planes en route to Da Nang were diverted to other bases in South Vietnam and Thailand. U.S. officials said five of the American servicemen killed were Marines and eight were airmen. Of the 70 hospitalized, about 40 were Marines, the others airmen.

The Viet Cong executed a jail-break Friday night 20 miles south of Da Nang. The guerrillas began by firing 30 mortar rounds at the provincial jail at Hoa An. Then about 60 of them charged the jail with satchel charges and freed 1,220 prisoners.

A police superintendent was killed and 5 policemen and 29 Vietnamese civilians were wounded. Most of the escapees were being held as suspected Viet Cong. About 190 were recaptured.

Trawler Aground
A flagless enemy trawler was run aground along the South Vietnamese coast off Cape Bangcan 340 miles northwest of Saigon by five U.S. naval vessels. Navy officials said the 120-foot steel-hulled trawler was trying to infiltrate ammunition and supplies to Communist units ashore.

It was the eighth trawler intercepted since U.S. warships began the coastal surveillance campaign known as Operation Market Time in February 1965. Late reports said the trawler was burning fiercely and emitting numerous secondary explosions, indicating hits on ammunition stores and fuel.

300 Flee Smoke At Nursing Home
WATERTOWN (AP) — Three hundred persons, including 50 invalids, were evacuated from the Bethesda Lutheran home Friday night after fire was discovered in a basement storeroom.

An attendant and a fireman were overcome by smoke inhalation and taken to a hospital. The Rev. Clarence Golish, executive director of the home, said damage was "not more than $100." He said evacuation today, and the two sides resumed their cannon duels along the Suez Canal after an all-day battle killed at least 33 persons and wounded 58 Friday.

The United Nations started sending observers to the canal today to try and halt fighting along the cease-fire line.

The new clashes ranged from Port Taufiq on the southern tip of the canal to the Great Bitter Lake and a railroad bridge at Firdan, north of Ismailia, about halfway up the canal, the Israeli army said.

Pilot Rescued
The Israelis said Egyptian anti-aircraft fire had hit one of their jets, but the pilot ejected and was rescued by Israeli forces.

A spokesman said the Israeli jets were called to strafe Egyptian artillery which opened fire on Israeli trucks near the Bitter Lake and troops at Firdan and to fight four Egyptian MIGs which attacked those same points.

Two of those four MIGs were shot down, the Israelis said, and another MIG was shot down when another group of four tried to cross over Israeli-held soil near Ismailia.

The dogfight at Ismailia, about halfway up the canal, came an hour after Israeli planes had crossed to the west

Bear Escapes Cage at Fair; Crowd Flees

SEYMOUR — One hundred persons jammed through a narrow enclosure when a 300-pound, wrestling bear escaped from his cage at the Outagamie County Fair Friday night.

The muzzled bear, which stands 6-feet-5, had finished wrestling a challenger and followed him through the cage door before attendants could shut it.

Several persons fell to the ground as the crowd shoved its way through a narrow gate from the canvas-enclosed area, but no one was hurt.

The bear romped in the opposite direction of the crowd, apparently frightened by the commotion. It was recaptured by its owner-trainer, Russ Ringler, a few minutes later, but not until Seymour policemen had been alerted. The incident occurred about 8:45 p.m.

Ringler, who has owned the bear for two years, said it never escaped before.

Police Shot 'Because We're Niggers'

By LESTER CARSON
NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Curtis Jefferson, 21, lay doubled up in pain on the sidewalk, blood streaming down his shirt.

"Why did they have to shoot him?" his wife asked between hysterical screams. "He never did any looting. My husband worked too hard."

Police said he was looting. Jefferson was shot across from his home after a short chase near Broad Street, Newark's main thoroughfare, during the third night of racial violence in the city.

"It ain't over yet," one of Jefferson's neighbors said. "Every dog has his day."

William Hardy, who lives in the same building with Jefferson, invited a newsman in to see bullet holes in the plaster. "The Puerto Ricans were shooting at the cops," he said, "but they turned their guns on us, because we're niggers."

As word spread that some Negroes had been killed, the jaunty mood of the previous night gradually became sullen and vengeful.

"Them soldiers can't stay forever," a woman muttered. "There'll be another time. Whitey, our time."

A neatly dressed youth pointed to the broken windows, apparently from gunfire, in a public housing project. Guardsmen looked down from the roof of the 18-story building.

"I heard they shot a 3-year-old girl in there," he said. "The white man's heaven is the black man's hell."

That is the title of a Muslim spiritual. The younger guardsmen seemed to notice the changing mood. A shout or a shot would bring the guardsmen out of doorways, rifle in one hand and a half-empty messkit in the other.

"Maybe they'll cut it out pretty soon, huh?" a thin, blond private said to reporters. "I been up since 5 a.m. and boy, I sure would like to hit the sack."

Weariness, coupled with the rigidly enforced curfew, gradually reduced the number of troublemakers. Only sporadic shots and the clackety-clack of a patrolling half-track broke the silence along Springfield Avenue, the main rioting area.

City Hospital reported that 15 Negroes died in its wards; 14 of gunshot wounds, the other of a skull fracture suffered in a riot-connected automobile crash.

Among these victims were two boys, 10 and 16 years old. The policeman died in St. Michael's Hospital.

Frequent Gunfire
A night-long curfew was broken by frequent gunfire, from snipers, harassing patrols and from police and guardsmen blasting with rifles and shot-guns.

One skirmish was halted by the arrival of armored National Guard vehicles after 15 minutes of firing had kept soldiers huddled for safety in store doorways.

In one 30-minute period just before the curfew expired at dawn, state police exchanged

Policeman Among Dead Of Wounds

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Exhausted, riot-torn Newark braced today for more Negro turmoil and looting as the death toll from three terrible nights of violence rose to 16, including one white policeman.

Trigger-ready police and National Guardsmen, many on duty from Friday's dusk to this morning's dawn, remained on the alert. They patrolled littered streets in the scarred Negro neighborhood, seeking out snipers who continued to spray sporadic shots from hiding places on roofs or inside buildings.

Pope Plans 2-Day Visit to Turkey

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI announced today he will fly to Istanbul July 25 on a two-day visit to Turkey.

It will be the Pope's fifth trip outside Italy in the four years of his pontificate.

He said he would visit Istanbul and then go to ancient Ephesus, 30 miles inland from the Aegean port of Izmir, to visit the "House of the Madonna" where the Virgin Mary is said to have spent her last year.

Mostly Combat Troops

80,000 Extra Men Likely Within Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. gades out of its existing forces forces in Vietnam probably will in the mainland United States be beefed up by 80,000 to 100,000 and Hawaii, form entirely new men, mostly combat troops, to units, or follow a combination of bring the American troop these courses.

strength there to between 540,000 and 550,000 within a year. Since the major Vietnam sav Pentagon military sources, buildup began in mid-1965, the Army has created one new division and four independent infantry brigades.

The prospect in the wake of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's recent visit to Vietnam and Gen. William C. Westmoreland's conferences here after McNamara's return is for the increase in authorized U.S. strength to total about 600,000 or 700,000 men.

This is the equivalent of two divisions plus their support. It represents the lower range of alternative proposals offered by Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam.

Chiefly Combat
Before these units are prepared for movement, some commitment of U.S. forces to 20,000 to 30,000 other troops will be shipped to Vietnam over the next three months to fill out the long-standing authorization of 480,000 men.

Like the bulk of reinforcements to follow later, these men will be chiefly in combat type units.

The largest of the outfits earmarked to go within about 90 days is the Army's new 198th Infantry Brigade, activated in May at Ft. Hood, Tex. The 198th numbers 5,600 men.

Artillery battalions, helicopter companies and similar outfits also will be included in the 20,000 to 30,000-man increment.

Although the later reinforcements, to be sent during the remainder of the 1968 fiscal year, are spoken of in terms of division forces, it is likely they will move to Vietnam in lesser formations, probably brigades and smaller units.

The Army could draw from the immediately foreseeable framework around the extent of the commitment of U.S. forces to Vietnam.

Talks Fail in Copper Firms
The nation's copper industry was virtually shut down today after contract negotiations affecting about 37,000 union members broke down.

The Big Four of the copper industry—Kennecott, Phelps-Dodge, Anaconda, and American Smelting and Refining—and numerous smaller western copper producers all were affected. Union officials called it "an orderly shutdown."

More than 80 per cent of the workers are with the United Steelworkers of America, which recently merged with the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers. Strikers included production, maintenance, clerical and technical workers.

Walter Maggilo of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service announced the break-down Friday in negotiations. Maggilo said mediation teams would meet separately with union and management negotiators before talks resume.

Details of various contract proposals have not been revealed.

Killed in Action
WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Pfc. Bruce R. Scott, husband of Mrs. Carol J. Scott of La Crosse, Wis., has been killed in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department said Friday.

The department also informed Mr. and Mrs. George Last of Oshkosh, Wis., that their son, Donald, 20, had been killed in action.

Israel Downs 3 MIGs at Suez

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Israel claimed its jets shot down gun batteries at Port Ibrahim today, and the two sides resumed their cannon duels along the Suez Canal after an all-day battle killed at least 33 persons and wounded 58 Friday.

The United Nations started sending observers to the canal today to try and halt fighting along the cease-fire line.

The new clashes ranged from Port Taufiq on the southern tip of the canal to the Great Bitter Lake and a railroad bridge at Firdan, north of Ismailia, about halfway up the canal, the Israeli army said.

The Israelis said Egyptian anti-aircraft fire had hit one of their jets, but the pilot ejected and was rescued by Israeli forces.

A spokesman said the Israeli jets were called to strafe Egyptian artillery which opened fire on Israeli trucks near the Bitter Lake and troops at Firdan and to fight four Egyptian MIGs which attacked those same points.

Two of those four MIGs were shot down, the Israelis said, and another MIG was shot down when another group of four tried to cross over Israeli-held soil near Ismailia.

The dogfight at Ismailia, about halfway up the canal, came an hour after Israeli planes had crossed to the west day's fighting, which each side accused the other of starting.

Israel launched similar air attacks Friday to allow it to evacuate dead and wounded soldiers, it said, after other methods failed to silence the Egyptian artillery.

It said seven Israeli soldiers were killed and more than 20 wounded by Egyptian artillery, mortars and tanks on the canal's west bank.

Egypt said at least 26 Egyptians, including civilians, were killed and 36 wounded by Israeli shelling all along the canal. It accused Israel of "wanton aggression."

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise: Swimming time is here so this is an idea for a child's individual beach bag with matching towels. Use a bright colored hand towel, fold it in half and sew the sides together. Make punch holes around the open top with metal eyelets, four on each side. Stitch bias tape closed and insert it through the eyelets, forming a drawstring. Knot the ends of the tape together so the drawstring won't come out. Sew the child's initial on the front of the bag using bias tape of a contrasting color. Put a matching bath towel inside the beach bag and she is ready for a trip to the pool. Mrs. D. E. S.

Dear Heloise: In response to the complaint about guests rubbing their hands over lovely velvet upholstery. We visited Windsor Castle in England in the Queen's apartment. There were lovely velvet and silk brocades lining the walls. Samples of the material were tacked beside the doorways for visitors to stroke. Following this idea, I suggest hemming small pieces of upholstery material and pinning them over the arms and backs. These can be stroked and removed for dry cleaning. They are unobtrusive and preserve the life of the original furniture covering. Rachel Long

Dear Heloise: With the camping and vacation traveling season about here I would like to pass on an idea I have found very helpful in packing the car. There are always certain items we know we may need enroute and don't want to pack in suitcases. However, extra sweaters, small pillows for napping, favorite toys, etc., if left loose, can clutter the car terribly and get underfoot. I put all these items in a plastic blanket storage bag. The side zipper is easily worked and items inside are quickly spotted through the plastic. All those loose articles are accessible, as well as staying cleaner and I find no one objects to the simple job of putting items back into the bag. With loose articles in the closed bag, both loading and unloading the car is simplified. Anne Herbert

Rescue Squad Aids Man at Food Store

The Appleton Fire Department rescue squad was called about 8:30 p.m. Thursday when a man was reported to have passed out at Kroger Food Store, 700 W. College Ave. Craig Leman, 43, 910 W. Packard St., was back on his feet when the rescue squad arrived. No injuries were found, and the squad took him home.

Make a Cardboard Strong Man, Staple His Arms, Legs

BY CAPPY DICK

A cardboard strong man is easy to make with scissors, crayons and a few paper staples. He's a barrel of fun to use. Because his arms and legs are attached with staples they may be moved and he can be made to assume amusing positions. He must be made in five parts -- his head and torso forming one part, his arms and legs forming the other four. The drawing above is presented as a guide; each part should be made larger, of course. Use cardboard that is easy to cut with scissors.

First outline all the parts with pencil, then cut them out. Color them with your crayons. Punch holes in the man's shoulders (see the X-marks in the drawing) and at each hole attach one of his arms. It will be necessary, of course, to make a hole in each arm, too, at the points indicated by the X-marks in the drawing. The paper staples to use in assembling the man are the kind that have a flat head and two prongs which are to be spread apart.

The legs are attached the same way as the arms. Punch a hole at each side of the man's torso and a hole through each leg. Attach the legs with staples.

The legs and arms will now be movable.

WSU-Oshkosh Drama Kopit's Farce Blends Humor With Grotesque

By DAVID F. WAGNER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — There are two approaches a director can use when staging Arthur Kopit's "Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mamma's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feeling So Sad."

It can be played from either a comedy or a grotesque viewpoint, and a healthy argument can be found no matter which the director picks.

Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh's speech department picked the Kopit farce for its summer production, which

Bill Would Provide for Federal Loans

Special to The Post-Crescent

WASHINGTON — Wisconsin resort industry leaders joined Sen. Gaylord Nelson Thursday in backing Nelson's bill to authorize long term government loans for recreational development.

Nelson told the Senate Agriculture Credit subcommittee, in a statement prepared for a public hearing Thursday, that the nation will need 200,000 new hotel, motel and resort rooms by 1968, requiring $2 billion in new capital.

"There is a constantly rising demand for new recreational facilities," Nelson said. "This need must be met with quality attractions, provided in the forests and fields, along the lakes and streams and coastlines of the open country, where a man and his family can get away from the pressures of city life."

Nelson pointed out the small Community Players production banks are not able to meet the demand for new capital in the recreation industry. Present short term government loans and guarantees are not adequate, he said.

Nelson's bill would authorize the Farmers Home Administration to grant or guarantee up to $200 million in loan funds. They would be repaid over 40 years, at no more than 5 1/2 per cent interest.

January 15 Trial Date Set for Youth on Disorderly Charge

Trial has been set for 9 a.m. Jan. 15, 1968 for Kenneth Deninger, 19, Minong, who was charged with disorderly conduct Friday when he appeared in Waupun County Branch 2.

"Let us be aware: let us as people not depend on what we read in the newspapers, not depend on what someone tells us, but get it from the people who are learning about it and take that information and use it."

"We need not point fingers at bar, when he allegedly started anything that has been done, his car and sprayed gravel, but we need to direct every on-striking two autos and a motorcycle that we have toward the positive solution."

Builders Want Subdividing Fee Abolished

home buyers through more expensive lots; new home buyers are penalized by paying twice for public parks and schools through the cash payment, plus property taxes; there is no limit on the amount of land or fee that could be required by a municipality; and taking land for parks and schools is unconstitutional.

Many state communities are mounting opposition to Assembly bill 793, with the strongest objection coming from the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

"The subdivider benefits from the subdivision and it is not unreasonable to ask him to make a contribution to the community, either in the form of land dedication or financial contributions to offset some of the costs being placed on the community because of the creation of subdivisions," says Ed Johnson, Madison, the League's executive director.

"Rule of Reason"

Walter Rasmussen, Appleton city planner, says the existing land dedication or fee requirement legislation is necessary and "meets the rule of reason".

Rasmussen said he did not think it would deter developers from bringing in large tracts of land and subdividing them in the city. He cited that under state requirements a residential lot in a town requires a half acre or so, depending on conditions.

Once this land is brought into the city, the developer because of adequate municipal services is allowed to build homes on smaller areas of land, the figure averaging out to about three to three and a half lots per acre.

Developers Advantage

Rasmussen and other city and regional planners say it is to the advantage of the developer to bring his land and plat in the city because he can derive more income through additional lots, and thus afford to dedicate a small percentage of property or money in lieu thereof for school and park site purposes.

It is expected the matter will get thorough airing at the annual convention of the Wisconsin Builders Association at Oshkosh Aug. 5-6.

Car Stripped When Parked By Scrap Heap

KIMBERLY — Thomas Burns, 103 W. First St., Kimberly, reported his car stripped of various items while it was parked on N. James Street sometime Thursday night.

The vehicle was parked in an area adjacent to a scrap metal heap collected by Explorer Scouts and police believe someone may have thought the car was to be junked as the heap includes one older model car.

Taken were two front wheels, two snow tires, a spare tire, air filter, battery, radio and antenna and a chrome strip from the side of the car. The glove compartment was also smashed.

Uniform Student Conduct Rules in Committee Study

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A uniform set of student conduct rules for the state university system will be handed to the Board of Regents Thursday.

Regent W. Roy Kopp of Platteville, chairman of the Board's education subcommittee, said that the uniform set of rules for student conduct is now being prepared by the staff of the state university system and will be handed to the system's council of presidents for review in the near future.

The presidents of the nine universities will review the suggested rules and forward them to the regents with suggested changes for adoption, he explained.

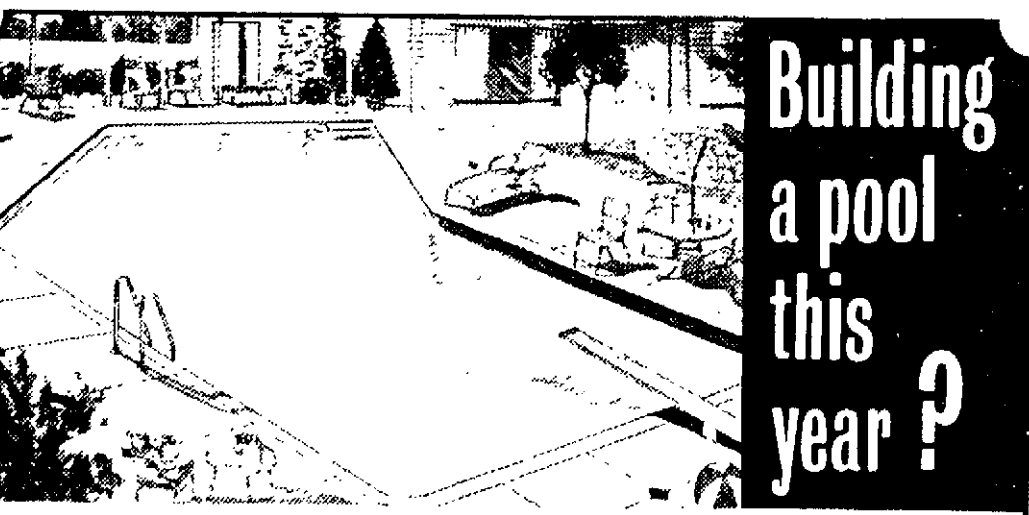

The lack of uniformity in conduct regulations became apparent in the state university system when a series of riots erupted on four of the campuses during the past spring.

Also being considered by the staff of the regents and to be presented to them this fall for adoption, Kopp said, is a uniform policy on probationary

Juvenile Thieves Caught by Police

MENASHA — Police have rounded up a group of juvenile thieves including one who returned a pistol and fishing tackle he admitted stealing from a docked cabin cruiser.

A six-year-old boy was caught rifling cars parked in a downtown bank parking lot Friday.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, July 15, the 196th day of 1967. There are 169 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1945, Italy declared war on its former Axis partner, Japan.

On this date:

In 1876, George Washington Bradley of the St. Louis baseball team pitched the first no-hitter in history. The losing team was Hartford, 2-0.

In 1912, the United States won the Olympic Games in Stockholm.

In 1948, the Democratic National Convention in Philadelphia nominated President Harry S. Truman as its presidential candidate.

In 1958, President Eisenhower ordered 3,500 U.S. Marines to Lebanon following a coup in neighboring Iraq.

In 1964 delegates to the Republican National Convention in San Francisco nominated Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona for the presidency.

6-Point Buck Ornaments Teen's Car

NEENAH — An 18-year-old youth was "shook up" but otherwise uninjured after his car struck a deer on County Trunk S around 3:15 a.m. today.

Thomas Demerath, 128 Irene St., said his car struck the 6-point buck "on the fly." The animal hit the hood of the car, where it lodged.

Demerath drove to a service station on Main Street in Neenah with the deer still on the hood to telephone authorities.

The dead animal was taken to the city pound.

Independent Youths Shun Rescue Boat, Stay With Cruiser

MENASHA — Police and auxiliary officers went to the rescue of an outboard cabin cruiser in the mouth of the Fox River channel off Jefferson Park Friday afternoon.

Four teen-age boys in the boat had struck a reef and sheared a pin in their motor. They declined assistance from the amphibian navy duck rescue craft instead spending several hours waiting for someone to bring them a new pin and making the repairs themselves.

Police stood by on shore in case the youths decided they needed help.

Driving Charge Results In Jail, Fine, Revocation

Robert E. Groeschel, 25, 229 W. Pacific St. was sentenced to 10 days in jail, fined $100 and costs or 40 more days and had his driver's license revoked for a year Friday by Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller.

Groeschel was found guilty of driving after revocation. He was stopped by Appleton police Tuesday in the 100 block of W. Pacific Street.

Village May Have Joint Observance-In and Out

WINNECONNE — Whether by design or accident, this village's planned secession from the State of Wisconsin is scheduled to take place only seven days after the 80th anniversary of Winnebago's incorporation as a village under Wisconsin law.

On this date in 1887 the Articles of Incorporation were filed with the Winnebago County Register of Deeds.

Just seven days from now, the work of the village's forefathers may be undone.

The present uproar, as almost everyone knows, resulted when ed clerk, J. W. Eldred, treasurer, was left off the official state highway map. The chief, A. H. Weymouth, mar- vengers have been reaping the benefits ever since.

1887 Winneconneans Also Had Their Secessionists

The 1887 Winneconneans also had their secessionists. Seven farm families protested when their land was included in the proposed village boundary lines and won a court battle for the right to be left out.

W. L. Miller was elected first village president in August following the incorporation. Named trustees were K. Knud- son, F. C. Nielsen, John Smith, G. C. King, G. B. Neyes and George Le Fevre.

Thomas E. Murphy was elected clerk, J. W. Eldred, treasurer, Charles Russell, police chief, A. H. Weymouth, mar- shal, J. F. Murphy, constable, and J. D. Rush, supervisor.

Call Special Board Session To Mull Runway Changes

for a special meeting of the entire board.

Still not determined, however, is whether the change will delay the project progress. The contractor had been scheduled to start pouring concrete for the runway about Aug. 10 with much of the base work already completed. If the additional concrete work is approved, added base work also will be needed which may cause the contractor to be delayed until the July 25 meeting day.

Wittman recommended laying the thicker concrete after it was discovered within the last month that other airports were experiencing runway breakup with eight-inch concrete for certain types of medium sized commercial jets. Wittman predicted that within a few years these same jets could be landing at the Winnebago Airport.

Burglars Take $37 in Break-in MENASHA — A burglar took $37 in cash from the till of the Pizza Place, 211 Main St., sometime Friday, the manager told police.

James P. Charles, Oshkosh, told officers Friday afternoon that when he opened the establishment for business at 3:15 p.m. he discovered someone had entered the building and taken a $5 bill and 32 bills of $1 denomination from the cash register leaving about $18 behind.

He said the theft must have happened sometime after closing time at 3:30 a.m. that day.

The burglar apparently entered through a rear window and door leading to the Pizza Parlor from another part of the building.

Appleton Seniors Go to Seminar

Seven Appleton High School West seniors have been selected to participate in a four-day seminar at Wisconsin State University-Whitewater starting Monday. They are Susan Mitchell, Christine Manlove, Laura fund as a result of the original Ward, Jane Jenkel, Robert Braun, John Kriek, and Doug- mated costs upon which the county's appropriation had been based.

However, the Aviation Committee wanted further confirmation of those figures before of the kind of work they may expect in college.

Expect Enrollment Jump

Vocational Head Outlines Expanded Area Programs

William Sirek, district administrator of VTE-12, area vocational, technical and adult education, gave the board a glimpse of what he has in mind for a program to be offered post-high school graduates in Calu- met, Outagamie, Waupaca and Winnebago counties, at its first regular board meeting Friday night.

An outline of the administrative structure also was offered for the board's consideration, if the program is to provide two and one year vocational certificates for the boys and girls within the total area.

The first step will be for the administration to pull together some of the present programs, making better utilization of staff and space the District Director said. Another significant change will be the increase of numbers of girls enrolled in the courses, stepping up the present ratio of five boys to one girl among last year's 150 to 160 graduates from the six schools.

Expect Increase

There were approximately 800 full-time students enrolled in year-around programs, who attend schools five days a week, 38 weeks of the year, three fourths of them in associate degree programs. Sirek expects there will be an increase of from 30 to 35 per cent during 1968, compared to last year's enrollment.

"If the area board and administration is to assume full responsibility in offering vocational and technical programs to all post graduates in the District 12 area, it will have to give full consideration to five basic concepts of the new training idea being incorporated under the state and federal vocational act of 1965," Sirek summarized.

Broaden Program

"We must include persons preparing for the labor market, persons in the labor market who are forced to acquire new skills, persons in the labor market who are seeking to upgrade their skills, persons in agriculture, the homemaking professions, the illiterates and those with limited education, and persons involved in social problems."

Creative Group, Biddle Firm Tell Merger

Robert O'Brien to Sever Connections With Company

Creative Group, Inc., Appleton advertising and travel incentive agency, announces a merger with the Biddle Company, an Illinois advertising agency, effective immediately. The parent company will be the Biddle organization, which is headquartered in Bloomington with offices also in Chicago, Kansas City, Mo., and Little Rock, Ark.

Creative group will operate as a division of Biddle and will remain headquartered in the Conway Motor Hotel and will keep its present staff. No change in policy is contemplated by the Appleton firm in the near future though in time an interchange of people and services may be effected.

Robert V. O'Brien, Creative Group president, said he will shortly sever his connection with the company. He reported he is selling his interest in the company to Biddle, and will remain active only until all details of the merger have been completed and the transitional needs of Creative Group clients have been met. He estimated this would be within three months.

Founded in Appleton
Creative Group was founded in 1959 in Appleton. It now has 24 employees and billings of approximately $2 million. The Biddle Co. was organized in 1941 by Everett D. Biddle, presently chairman of the board. It has 168 employees, 40 national clients in 11 states and billings in the 18 million dollar range.

The merger offer was accepted by Creative Group to strengthen its competitive position in the expanding state industrial economy and to make available more staff services than its current size permitted. The Biddle Co., which had five advertising accounts in Wisconsin prior to the merger, has now improved its ability to serve existing business in the area and to handle new accounts.

Builders Want Subdividing Fee Abolished

Bill in Assembly Would Affect Laws In Appleton, Neenah

Abolishment of laws in Appleton, Neenah and other Wisconsin cities — requiring dedication of cash or land payment as condition of subdivision development — is being sought by the Wisconsin Builders Association.

A bill was recently introduced in the State Assembly at the request of the Association and provides that, "No municipality may require, as a condition of subdivision approval, any dedication of land for a general public purpose or any payment of money in lieu of such dedication."

Neenah for many years has had legislation requiring developers to pay $300 per acre when platting and subdividing tracts of land brought into the city. Appleton earlier this year adopted a law requiring developers of new subdivisions to dedicate a percentage of the subdivision to park and school site purposes.

In lieu of dedicating land, there is a set fee of $120 per lot for school and $80 per lot for park site fund purposes. There was little open opposition to the policy when adopted by the city council.

City officials said the law was needed for several reasons, especially to plug loopholes where some subdivision developers were attempting to escape payment of special assessments, or made the city buy acreage for required street extensions when the normal procedure is to have streets platted and dedicated.

Man Sentenced to Six Months for Worthless Checks

John H. Oliver, 34, 850 W. Wisconsin Ave., was sentenced Friday to six months in the Outagamie County jail on 11 counts of writing worthless checks.

Judge Gustave J. Keller sentenced Oliver to seven months on each count, with the counts to run concurrently and the month he has already spent in jail to be credited to the sentence.

Keller suspended a sentence of a year at the state prison at Waupun, which Oliver had received on a charge of absconding with a board bill. He had pleaded guilty to both counts.

The State Department of Public Welfare revoked Oliver's parole due to the worthless check charge.

Hub Cap May Be Police Clue

Conway Named By Knowles to State Agency

Wisconsin Rapids Man Also to Serve In Aeronautics

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Prominent Appleton businessman and Republican leader John Conway was named Friday to the State Aeronautics Commission.

Conway and John Kachel, traffic manager for a Wisconsin Rapids paper company, were building owners in the 100 block appointed by Gov. Warren P. of E. College Avenue have filed Knowles to replace hold-over a letter with the common council appointees of previous Democratic administrations.

They will succeed Donald against the walk, which would be bounded by the back of their buildings on the south side of E. College Avenue, the 450-car parking structure, Oneida Street and Morrison Street, is that 23 parking meters would have to be removed.

Need Parking
The petition, circulated by Emmanuel Damrow, a restaurant operator, said the space needed for the mall was of more value for parking purposes.

Signers claimed it would take too much time for shoppers to park in the adjacent parking ramp. They suggested the 23 meters — now mounted on huge cement bunkers — be moved to the south which would still leave some room for a pedestrian area, resulting in a compromise.

In a letter accompanying the protest, Damrow said the problem of parking for the 100 block of E. College Avenue would affect businessmen "in loss of shoppers due to the lack of convenient parking."

Loss of Income
He claimed there would be loss of meter income and that it would cost too much for mall maintenance.

"Won't you help us keep our parking meters?" Damrow wrote. Copies were sent to the mayor and 20 members of the city council.

The upcoming phase of the central business district rejuvenation as in the city's comprehensive plan is development of shopping service areas or pedestrian walks at the east and west ends of the College Avenue business district.

Judge Slates Hearing in Theft Case
OSHKOSH — Winnebago County Juvenile Judge James G. Sarres Friday set a hearing for July 28 in the case of a 16-year-old Oshkosh boy charged with purse snatching. The hearing will determine whether Judge Sarres will waive jurisdiction and transfer the case to criminal court.

Proceedings against a 15-year-old boy involved in the same case have been adjourned day to day until reports from area police departments are complete.

Officers from Appleton and Outagamie County have been involved in the case, since the boys are believed to have snatched purses in Appleton, Neenah, Menasha and Oshkosh. Police in the Fox Cities received reports of 11 attempted purse snatchings between June 24 and 30.

Three of six attempts in Appleton were successful. There was one attempt in the parking lot of the 41 Bowl in the Town of Grand Chute.

One purse was taken from a Neenah woman, while snatchers were successful in one of three attempts in Menasha. Several incidents also occurred in Oshkosh.

A Neenah Fire Department ambulance took the youth to the hospital.

Say Removal of Parking Spaces Would Cause Loss of Shoppers

The proposed downtown Soldiers Square pedestrian walk immediately north of the new parking ramp may be in trouble before it gets to the drawing board.

Chilton Metal Products Union Ratifies Contract

CHILTON — The striking union's demand for a cost of living clause was dropped.

The company made an offer and I presented it to the workers," said William Madison, the union's chief negotiator. "The company's offer passed by a slim margin."

The company's offer passed by a slim margin. The walkout, believed to be the first in the growing company's history, had an economic calling for a 15-cent pay hike impact on the community. Chilton Metal Products is one of the second year of the agreement, city's major employers.

Union members voted by a slim 100-96 margin to accept the company proposal and return to work Monday.

Fringes included an additional paid holiday and a two-day ditch attempt to avoid a walk-out.

Late Ride Excites Fair Midway

SEYMOUR — There is new excitement down on the Belle City Amusements' midway at the Outagamie County Fair over the arrival late Friday of a long awaited new ride.

The $45,000 Tip Top arrived about 6 p.m. still packed on the truck which brought it on a long 2,300-mile journey from the factory in Salem, Ore.

The ride is believed to be one of the few operating in the Upper Midwest. Factory representatives who accompanied the truck carrying the 38,000-pound ride joined workers from the amusement company in preparing the ride for immediate assembly.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Panicek, co-owners of Belle City, were on hand on the midway when the ride arrived. Panicek said the ride originally had been scheduled to arrive earlier in the week in time to be assembled with the other rides.

However, delays at the factory altered the original schedule. The Paniceks first saw the ride while wintering last year in Florida where they attended the Tampa State Fair. The fair is used by ride firms as a testing ground.

Lad Caught Below Dam In Menasha

MENASHA — An apprentice conservation warden was credited with saving the life of a 14-year-old Menasha youth who was dragged into the tumbling undercurrent below the Menasha dam Friday night.

Thomas Van Dyke, 502 Keyes St., was listed in satisfactory condition this morning in Theda Clark Memorial Hospital where he was taken after being pulled unconscious from the water by Warden Donald Gruber, who worked over the lad about five minutes before reviving him.

Police said the Van Dyke youth was diving below the dam for fishing lures with Chris and Mike Cyrus, 616 Keyes St., when he became caught in the current at the foot of the dam spillway near the Menasha Corp. warehouse on the north bank.

Making Check
Gruber, who went on Warden I status about a year ago, after several years as a State Forest Ranger, came on the scene during routine rounds to check fishermen at the dam.

He saw the Cyrus boys in the water at the foot of the dam and heard one scream, "he's dead. He's dead." Gruber ran back to his car, parked at the south end of the Mill Street bridge near the Geo. Banta Co. and pulled an armful of life preservers from the boat he had been towing. He threw these from the bridge to the Cyrus boys and ran to a point where he could enter the water.

Gruber saw one leg of the Van Dyke boy above the water at one point. By the time Gruber reached the boys, Chris Cyrus had tugged his unconscious companion from the grip of the current.

Applies Pressure
Gruber first attempted mouth-to-mouth resuscitation on the south but was unsuccessful. He turned the victim over and applied pressure to his back to pump water from the air passages. Then he resumed the mouth-to-mouth technique and brought the boy to consciousness.

A Neenah Fire Department ambulance took the youth to the hospital.

St. Francis Library Offers Answers To Persons With Religious Queries

BY MALJA PENIKIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

If you ever need an answer to a question on the latest changes or decrees in the Roman Catholic church, chances are the best place to find it is the St. Francis Library, 116 S. Walnut St.

Operated by the Third Order of St. Francis with profits from the gift shop on the corner, the compact library offers something for everyone, with more than 12,000 volumes on spiritual reading, reference books, fiction, non-fiction and philosophical essays stocked on its shelves.

A special prize is the complete set, possibly the only one in town, of the new Catholic Encyclopedia.

"We have wanted this set for a long time. It included some sacrifices, but it has been worthwhile because it is used a great deal," said Mrs. Frank Taylor, librarian since 1952.

Friendly Smile
Among its regular customers have been priests, nuns, students doing research and many youngsters who take advantage of the children's section and Mrs. Taylor's friendly smile.

The library, possibly the only one of its kind in the nation in that it has the "free and open to everyone" policy, was founded sometime in the middle 1930s, though the exact date and circumstances of the founding have been lost.

In any case, it started out as a small bookcase of donated books which was housed in a conference room at St. Joseph Priory. Its patronage was limited to members of the Third Order.

Became Minister General
The success of the project is attributed to the foresight of the Rev. Gerard Hesse, OFM Cap. who was an assistant pastor at St. Joseph at that time and spiritual director of the laymen's group, the Third Order. Last year the same man served as minister general or head of the Capuchin Order.

He induced the Third Order to take over the operation of the St. Francis gift store to provide a source of income for the support of the library.

The idea has worked. To this day it is the store which pays for the new additions which are selected by Mrs. Taylor and the board each month.

Another service to the reader is the movies, records and the "Now they have modernized Catholic magazines to which the library subscribes each month," she said. "And such books as 'Are Back issues of many are on file for reference work."

According to Mrs. Taylor, our documents of the church, books and reports on Vatican II and the good old fashioned spiritual essays," are always popular.

Missionary Will Speak To Baptists

Miss Suzanne Powers, former Appleton resident, is presently serving as a missionary for the American Baptist Foreign Mission in India. She will be the guest speaker at the 10:30 a.m. service at the First Baptist Church.

The congregation of the Community Baptist Church, Hortonville, has also been invited to the service. The Suzanne Powers Fellowship Guild of the church will sing and perform the ushering duties. The church will have a potluck picnic after the service at Erb Park.

This will be Miss Powers' last speaking engagement before she returns to India. She previously has spent two five-year periods in Balasore, on the Bay Bengal, where she was the only American teacher. Much of her time at the school is spent in teaching Bible classes. She also goes to villages to work with Christian groups.

During her year in the states she spent much time traveling to various Baptist churches and speaking on her work. When her work in India ends, she plans to return to the United States to live.

Lutheran Church Plans Bible Camp This Month For People Over 55

WITTENBERG — The fourth annual camping program for people in the area congregations who are 55 and older is planned for July 23 to 29.

"Sharing Eternal News" will be the study theme which will be conducted by the Rev. Axel T. Blom, Chippewa Falls. Naturalist Al Holtz, Green Bay, will conduct the education hour and Missionary David Nelson, on leave from his mission in Brazil, will be the evening speaker.

Recreation, including fishing, horse shoes, lawn bowling and camp fires is included on the agenda. Picnic day is July 27. Cost is $4.25 per day, $20 per week or $35 per week for a couple. Ministers in the area can be contacted for registration.

Months of Training Needed To Develop Attention Span

BY LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of Southern California

"Pay attention to the teacher!" is often the last work to a child on the first day of school.

Good advice! A child's ability to control his attention is a major factor in school success. But it takes weeks and months of training.

Children need attention control to learn to write, read and spell. Giving full attention and effort to each activity in turn should have become almost a habit in pre-school days.

Somewhere between a child with a half-hearted, careless, or "don't care" approach and a tense child striving for perfection is the relaxed, happy child who works to improve his skill whether it be eating, talking, picture drawing or catching a ball.

You Must Show Interest
Parents have an opportunity to help a child develop the attitudes that eventually become useful habits of behavior.

The first step is for the adult to show some interest in a child's activity. This stimulates and deepens the child's interest. For example: a child attempting to build a tall pile of blocks will maintain his interest in repeat attempts if his successes are acknowledged and given hearty approval by members of the family.

As a child begins to draw with crayons, he may be given the shape from a background of picture of a square to copy — large ones at first and then smaller ones. Some discussion of the square may be necessary to draw his attention to the fact that the lines are straight, that they are all the same length. Through encouragement and suggestion the child not only increases his ability to keep his mind on his work but also learns to perceive more details in a figure.

As he gets older and gains drawing skills, the drawings can be made more complex. Eventually there should be several overlapping shapes in a single picture. His increased ability to control his attention must make possible the recognition of a single shape from a background of miscellaneous objects. While the child is being taught to describe shapes, colors, materials and other details he also gets practice in focusing his attention.

Don't Expect Perfection
Along with control of attention he can develop the habits of persistence, continuing an activity to its completion, and not least of all, the habit of giving each new task that he attempts his best efforts.

Parents must be careful, however, not to expect perfection, particularly at the beginning stages of any new endeavor.

A large pad of cheap paper can give the child the opportunity to try a drawing again and again. The primary emphasis of criticism must always be on the improvement taking place rather than on some ideal of perfection.

When a child's first clumsy attempts at a new type of drawing are neither discouraged nor laughed at, he gains the courage to try new things. In the process of getting started in school he will be placed in many new situations and be expected to master many new skills. He must be willing to try without fear of failure.

fire with rooftop snipers in three separate incidents.

As daylight came, police still chased looters.

But with the end of the curfew at 6 a.m., traffic began flowing again. All cars had been banned on the city's streets for the curfew period. Vehicles were routed round the Springfield Avenue section because of sporadic sniping.

Reaches Peak
Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes summoned additional guardsmen to quell what he called a "criminal insurrection." It reached a violent crescendo on a humid Friday night, as the darkness was pierced by gun flashes, searchlights and the flickering flames of buildings put to the torch by rioters.

Some 4,000 helmeted police with riot guns and guardsmen with bayonets at the ready cordoned off the Negro riot center, west of Newark's downtown business center. The quarantined area was widened when snipers and looters appeared outside the armed ring, penetrating sporadically even into the heart of the city.

With the curfew came a directive over the police radio: "Use your shotguns and revolvers. Use your shotguns and revolvers. That's what you have them for."

As Newark approached the dawn, her streets were littered with rubbish and broken glass, giving the appearance of a tornado-ravaged area. Acrid smoke still curled above the wreckage of Negro area buildings after the arrest of a Negro taxicab driver touched off the rioting Wednesday night.

Disaster Area
Hughes declared the city a civil disaster area, enabling him to clamp on the curfew and shut off the sale and use of liquor.

An offer by President Johnson to consider federal aid was held in abeyance by the governor. Such assistance could include federalization of the New Jersey National Guard, and a shouldering by the federal government of the burden of the nation's worst racial rioting since the Watts eruption in Los Angeles in 1965. The West Coast disorders lasted four days and claimed 34 lives.

U.S. Delivers Note on Raids

Tells Russia It Will Take Care to Avoid Soviet Ships

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States has promised the Soviet Union it will take "extraordinary measures to minimize damage" to Soviet ships in the Vietnam war zone.

The U.S. Embassy said today it delivered a note to the Soviet Foreign Ministry Thursday acknowledging the possibility that some U.S. fire aimed at Hai-phong installations had accidentally hit the Soviet ship Mikhail Frunze June 29.

The note added, however, that "the risk of unintentional damage to vessels in the area of hostilities cannot be completely eliminated."

Answers Protest
The U.S. note was in reply to a protest filed by the Soviets June 30 demanding "effective guarantees that similar attacks" would not occur. The protest also demanded "strict punishment" for the pilots.

The Frunze charge was the second within a month. In June the Soviets charged U.S. planes intentionally attacked the Soviet ship Turkistan off North Vietnam. The Russians said one sailor was killed.

The United States has admitted the possibility that the Turkistan was hit accidentally.

Knowles Says Resort Business Improving

The governor, who predicted a record number of tourists for the summer, spoke at dedication of the reconstructed Wisconsin pavilion from the New York World's Fair.

Your Problems

Sister Who Knows Stresses Appreciation of All Brothers

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am not writing for advice. I am just writing to tell all girls who have brothers to love them and appreciate them while they still have the chance.

Two years ago my brother was killed in an accident. I didn't know it was possible to miss anyone so much. Every time I see a boy who was my brother's age I have to fight back the tears.

There is a TV commercial that I hate. A brother and sister are fighting over a can of deodorant. The mother gets another and can hands it to the boy and says, "Here's another can. Now stop fighting." The sister answers, "Thanks, Mom, but we could do with one less brother." Whenever I see that commercial I say right out loud, "If you should ever lose your brother, as I did, you will eat your words."

I hope all girls who have brothers will treat them better while they still have the chance. I'd give anything if I could tell my brother just once how much I loved him — Lonely Sister

Dear Lonely: Here's your letter and I hope it makes a dent. It could well have been written by a boy who misses his sister. This train runs both ways.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last year I was dating a wonderful girl. Things were going fine until I cheated on her and lied about it. We had an argument and broke up. When she married someone else five months later I thought I'd die.

I hear rumors that she and her husband are not getting along and there is talk of separation. My problem is this: I miss her like crazy. I have been going through the motions of living ever since she married. Now that I see a chance to get her back I can hardly contain myself. I have not seen her since the day we quarrelled.

I have a wild urge to rush in and play the rescue bit — tell her I'll be there if she ever wants me. Or should I wait until she calls? I'm scared to death her pride won't let her. Please, tell me what to do. I need some cool counsel. — New Hope

Dear Hope: Steady there, fella. Keep your hands off that phone. The girl is married now, and so long as she is married you have no place in her life.

Play this one strictly on the up and up. You'll be happy you did.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I work in a hospital and enjoy it very much. I am not an RN, I am an aide, but I have great compassion for the patients and try to bring a little sunshine into the lives of those who have few or no visitors.

I am continually amazed at the thoughtlessness of some people who send get-well cards. One woman received a card which read, "Hurry up and get out of the hospital and go on home. Your husband has been having too much fun lately." Another card signed, "The Gang At The Office" went something like this: "Quit loafing and get back to work. We're tired of carrying your load."

Then, there are cards so obscene that one wonders if it is against the law to put them in the mail. I won't describe these cards because the messages are unprintable. What can be done about this sort of thing? — Bug-Eyed

Dear Bug: The obscene cards should be sent to the Post Office Department. The tasteless ones, unfortunately, will continue to be sold, simply because there are a lot of tasteless people in the world.

Give in or lose him . . . when a guy gives you this line, look out! For tips on how to handle the super sex salesman, check Ann Landers. Read her booklet, "Necking And Petting — What Are The Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Copyright, 1967)

Congo Continues On Verge of Chaos

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While the Congo government says it has put down the latest uprising there, it is hard to escape the conclusion that the country continues on the verge of chaos.

This is the country with the greatest potential among all the nations of black Africa. Yet it has shown continued inability to stand on its own feet. This has been concealed in recent years by apparent progress in stability and economy. There are signs that such progress lacks a solid basis.

With every step forward it has taken in its seven years of turbulent independence the Congo has often seemed to take one or more steps backward.

Many Western diplomats see the root of the trouble in the Congolese National Army, its undisciplined troops, its ambitious officers and its tradition of mutiny.

The diplomats are consistent. It overruled by their governments.

Only Hope
The United States, Belgium and other Western countries have helped to train and equip the force built up by ex-journalist Gen. Joseph D. Mobutu. They regard President Mobutu and his army as the only hope of welding the enormous former Belgian Congo into a nation and putting an end to the constant threat of anarchy, bloodshed and Communist infiltration in the heart of Africa.

Neither Mobutu nor his army has lived up to the Western governments' expectations. Yet they see no alternative to their present policy. The warnings of diplomats on the spot have been swept aside by the overriding need to back the only strongman in sight.

Behind the rivalries and intrigues of Congolese politicians, Mobutu has held the only real power in the country since he staged his first coup in September 1960. The politicians, including his present arch-enemy, former Premier Moise Tshombe, headed the government in turns by Mobutu's tolerance until he himself assumed the presidency five years later.

Control of Troops
But while Mobutu controlled the politicians in Kinshasa, he never effectively controlled his troops, particularly in the remote districts of the country.

The nucleus of the army was the 40,000-strong Force Publique, a Belgian-officered body, left behind when Belgium relinquished its colonial rule in July 1960.

Early this month, for reasons believed connected with the Algerians' arrest of Tshombe, the mercenaries rebelled against the Mobutu regime. With the help of the fanatically pro-Tshombe gendarmes they put Mobutu's army to flight whenever it appeared—sometimes without firing a single shot.

They occupied several major cities in the eastern Congo and might have taken Kinshasa if they had really tried. It was obvious that they operated from inside Congo territory and that they were until recently on the government payroll.

Invasion From Abroad
In a series of statements Mobutu denounced what he called the mercenaries' invasion of the Congo from abroad and whipped up latent hatred of Europeans in general by accusing white settlers of aiding the invasion.

When the mercenaries withdrew voluntarily from the city of Bukavu according to information reaching neighboring countries, Mobutu's troops went on a rampage of killing and looting directed against European residents and Congolese suspected as spies and saboteurs.

The government evidently blocked the Europeans' escape by refusing to allow them to leave the Congo over the nearby Rwanda border.

Deep Resentment
All available evidence from refugees and eyewitnesses indicated that the settlers, far from helping the mutinous mercenaries, deeply resented their arrival which disrupted several years of relative tranquility in the Bukavu area.

Many Europeans, including some of the white missionaries are discouraged and ready to go home.

Many Western diplomats fear it may be too late for the radical reorganization of the Congolese army which they have always seen as the only way to prevent the nation slipping deeper into chaos.

Correction Planned

Mission of Surveyor 4 Most Accurate to Date

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists said today the flight of Surveyor 4, hurtling toward a Sunday night landing on the moon, appeared to be the most accurate launch to date.

If an in-flight correction is successful, a spokesman at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said the 2,200-pound craft probably will land 80 miles southwest of its intended target.

"This indicates extreme accuracy," the spokesman said.

The target on the dry bay Si-nus Medii in the center of the moon is so rugged, officials said, that Surveyor was given only a 50-50 chance of landing gently enough to carry out its job-prospecting for iron with camera, shovel and magnet.

Its initial trajectory aimed the moon robot at a point 120 miles southwest of the 37-mile target area, which is littered with rocks, craters and ridges, so rough that the spindly craft could be upset or damaged.

The flight controllers decided Friday night to delay 24 hours the steering rocket blast designed to aim it more squarely at the target.

By delaying the correction, scientists said only slightly more fuel would be used and more tracking data would be provided for use in pin-pointing the landing.

GAMBLES — Valley Fair

Same Dreary Cycle

Last year the Johnson Administration missed the cost of the Vietnam war in its budget estimates by an appalling $10 billion. Now the Congressional Joint Economic Committee says that the cost will once again be too low, perhaps by only $5 billion or $6 billion.

"The same dreary cycle of events threatens again in 1967," says the committee report in pointing out that the over-all budget deficit in the 1968 fiscal year may well be over $30 billion. And yet the Administration goes blandly on with magnificent domestic spending programs in what only can be described as a tremendous juggling act.

Anyone involved in federal funding plans knows full well that current programs are not being met. The Green Bay Head Start program was cut back. Valley cities find that their qualifications for assistance in water and sewer plans are questioned. There has been a freeze for more than a year on low interest federal loans for college and university dormitory construction. The debt limit was once again boosted upward only when it was announced that even Social Security payments might not be met.

But President Johnson, in an effort to combat charges that the Vietnam war is seriously undermining domestic welfare programs, says the poverty program will cost 25 per cent more this year, spending on education is up three times over 1964 and so is the amount spent on health programs. He proposes a great deal more be spent on a model cities program not yet out of planning stages.

The American people will be paying far into the future for the war the Johnson Administration will not even admit exists.

Work Camps for Prisoners

One of the most popular politicians in the modern history of the Fox River Valley was the late Robert Lynch, for many years the assemblyman for the old Brown County first district, which, before the reapportionment laws of recent decades embraced the entire city of Green Bay. Mr. Lynch was what was known in the vocabulary of Wisconsin politics in another era as a "fair-minded Democrat." Among the causes in Madison that he espoused most earnestly during the years of the depression and later was the idea of establishing in healthful and peaceful woodland environment work camps for the men and boys sentenced to state correctional institutions.

Thus it was with considerable interest that we perused the current report of the state division of corrections on the recent operations of the work camps that have been established since that time, including a model youth camp in a state forest along the Black River in Jackson County that would have pleased Mr. Lynch had he lived to see it. We remember vividly the enthusiasm with which the late legislator described such enterprises on numerous visits with the editors of this newspaper. Parenthetically, we might suggest some small token of recognition at the Black River camp, perhaps in the form of a little plaque in the administrative office, citing Mr. Lynch's pioneering efforts for the goal that it now represents.

There are other prisoner work camps in the forests of Wisconsin, on the Flambeau River in Sawyer County, at Gordon in Douglas County, and at McNaughton in Oneida County. But the Black River camp is perhaps the most important of the series, as it is also in all likelihood the most costly to operate because of the particular quality of its population.

These are the young boys who have personified the most severe of the correction problems at the state schools for boys at Wales and at Plymouth.

As the report of Sanger Powers, the corrections chief, puts it, the typical 17 and 18 year olds sent to Black River "are sophisticates in regard to severity and frequency of violations, with the majority having been at the boys' school at least twice, and some as often as four and five times. Black River, then, offers a last opportunity to boys whose successful return to the school, the community, and many cases the home" cannot be indicated with any reasonable confidence. These are boys who are not academically inclined, often because they lack learning skills, more often because of adjustment problems rooted deeply in their childhood experiences, and frequently because they utterly lack motivation.

There is a certain gloom about such candid revelations. Yet, somehow, we are glad that a progressive Wisconsin state government has provided this "last chance" opportunity for the wayward youth. They are worth our utmost efforts to salvage. We are sure too that Bob Lynch would be happy, if he could see the Black River camp and its stubbornly hopeful and patient staff.

Turnabout on Open Housing

Usually one of the major groups opposed to open housing laws have been real estate brokers. But one such broker in Colorado has completely changed his mind.

John Hasselbald, a director of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and formerly president of the Denver Board of Realtors, led a campaign against open housing laws two years ago. In a speech before a race relations group at Fiske University he told about it.

"We warned that if legislation of this sort was passed we would see riots and people in rebellion such as we have never seen before. We quoted the Constitution. We quoted the Bible. We said this would only lead to the eventual breakdown of all our precious freedoms." But the law was passed and "we find a condition today that we wouldn't have believed possible two years ago. We find that the real estate industry has not been hurt by the law. We find that there has been an amazing public acceptance of the law...it has definitely assisted the public and the real estate industry to bring about a healthier climate in human relations. The law has not brought about an increase in so-called incidents, riots, marches and so forth. In fact, quite the opposite. We find that there has not been a decrease in property values by an influx of minority people into an area. The law has helped to create an atmosphere in which responsible organizations and individuals dedicated to the cause of human liberty can work together intelligently and effectively. The paths which the realtors in Colorado have walked in the past two years are the paths which all realtors throughout the country must eventually walk if we are going to solve this problem of human relations in housing which leads to many other reforms."

People who take firm points of view often find it difficult for prestige reasons to admit they were wrong. Mr. Hasselbald has gone even further and has become a strong advocate of the very laws he vehemently opposed only two years ago. The experience in Colorado may not always be repeated when open housing laws are passed but certainly it is encouraging. Housing patterns are basically a major cause of de facto school segregation, some delinquency problems and the deep seated resentment and bitterness that leads to violence.

Looking Backward

Steamer Route Needs Improving

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for July 11, 1867.

The Fox River Improvement is in the hands now of gentlemen of immense capital and large business experience. The only difficulty in the way is the Wisconsin River.

Here (along The Upper Fox) we have plenty of water to work with, the problem being to confine it. Thus the engineers say can be done without difficulty by means of wing dams and (when the water is confined) engineers, steamboat men, raftsmen and pilots all agree that the running of boats will keep the channel open.

Men of the Improvement Company have examined the Fox-Wisconsin route carefully and are satisfied that it is a feasible canal route and that, when opened permanently, will be of immense value to them as well as the country.

They have fixed their eyes on the Mississippi River and from this time forward will bend all their energies to reach it.

Just how much time may be needed, of course, cannot be told now, but the completion of the Fox and Wisconsin Improvement and the opening of a permanent steamboat route between Green Bay and the Mississippi may be set down as one of the things that is bound to come.

25 YEARS AGO
Saturday, July 11, 1942.

Miss Marion Charlesworth, whose professional name was Marion Francis, was singing at the Fox and Hounds, ultra-smart supper club on Beacon Street, Boston. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Charlesworth, Kaukauna, started her professional singing career with band leader Frankie Masters. She was a student of music during her years at Kaukauna High School, winning three first places in state competition. She studied also at the Chicago Conservatory of Music before joining the Masters band as its featured singer.

Miles A. Herberg was director that summer of Appleton City Band, composed of members of the old National Guard Field Artillery unit and other musicians replacing those serving in the armed forces.

Kenneth Geshe was elected president of the new Appleton Boys Bicycle Club sponsored by the Appleton YMCA. Other officers were William Kunzman, vice president, and Don Schultz, secretary.

10 YEARS AGO
Saturday, July 13, 1957.

R. E. Smith, Neenah, was elected president of the Northern Wisconsin-Michigan Association of Credit Men. Elected directors from the Fox Cities area were R. W. Danielson, Appleton; L. D. Schweers, Sinocton; and G. F. Costello, Brillion.

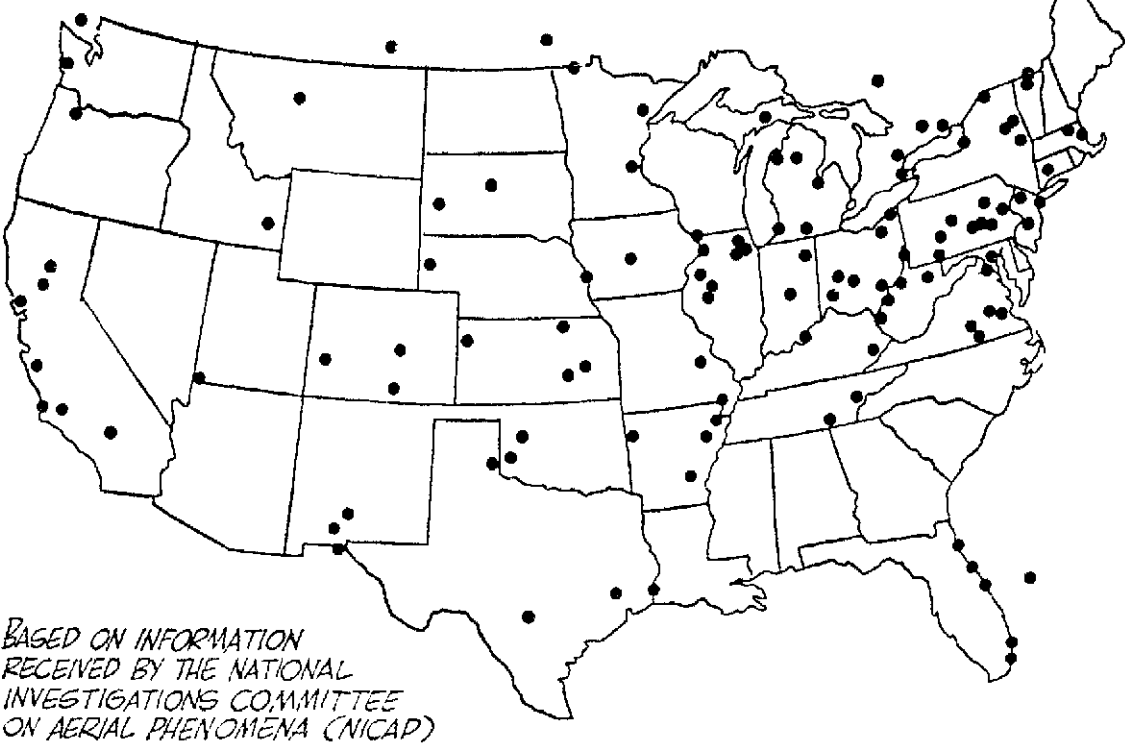

James E. Bartz, Appleton, was one of the 87 University of Wisconsin engineering students attending a six-week summer session at a summer camp in the Chequamegon National Forest in Bayfield County.

Judy Van Alstine, route 1, Neenah, was to take part in the music festival at Milwaukee County Stadium. The senior at Neenah High School won first place in an audition in which 800 contestants tried out. Robert Merrill and the McGuire Sisters were among the headliners for the festival.

Dr. Condon to Head New Study of UFO's

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE

An intriguing puzzle in the skies is perhaps coming a step closer to resolution.

Do some so-called UFO's — Unidentified Flying Objects or "flying saucers" — really represent visitations from intelligent life on planets in outer space?

Or could all the curious sightings be explained either as familiar or rare natural phenomena?

Millions of Americans, and persons abroad, have sighted glowing or rapidly-moving or otherwise puzzling objects or images. Many lean to the opinion or even the conviction that some UFO's truly are extra-terrestrial in origin.

Skeptics hold that at least 95 per cent of all sightings can be explained as mis-identification of stars, planets, weather balloons, satellites, meteors, fireballs, or other objects and natural phenomena, and that with fuller investigation all could be explained without having to resort to an out-of-this-world theory.

MANY ARE PUZZLED
In between are millions of citizens who are simply puzzled, particularly because reports of flying saucers have been current for 20 years or more, and man's previous history records sightings of peculiar objects in the heavens or close to earth.

Now in progress is an independent scientific study of UFO's by a committee headed by Dr. Edward U. Condon, physicist of the University of Colorado in Boulder. The Air Force is supporting the 15-month study with a grant of $213,000 and the committee's report is scheduled to be delivered early next year.

The Condon committee includes physicists and psychologists, and it can call upon consultants in almost any scientific specialty in making its review. Its findings and any recommendations or conclusions may put some new focus on UFO's.

Over the years, UFO's have not lacked for investigators. One group probing UFO reports is the National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena (NICAP), a non-profit organization with headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Its membership includes more than 30 field teams who can go to the scene of UFO sightings to make their own evaluations.

NICAP, formed about 10 years ago, maintains a national map of what it terms sightings are made by "reits" leaders and members incline to the opinion that at least some UFO's do come from distant space.

AIR FORCE STUDY
For about 20 years, the U.S. Air Force has made a continuing study of UFO's under its Project Blue Book.

At the beginning of this year, Blue Book had received more than 11,000 UFO reports, and it listed about six per cent as being unidentified — meaning that the descriptions given could not be correlated with any known objects or phenomena.

Project Blue Book officials say they have no evidence that any UFO brought to its attention is any threat to national security, or that the "unidentified" sightings involve anything beyond the range of present day scientific knowledge. Nor, they add, is there any evidence that any UFO's are vehicles from other planets.

The investigations by Blue Book and by voluntary groups both have critics who charge bias or superficiality.

One voice long urging a truly scientific look at UFO's is that of Dr. J. Allen Hynek, astronomer of Dearborn Observatory at Northwestern University, who is a consultant to Project Blue Book.

"There is no compelling evidence to believe in other than natural causes" for UFO's, he says, but some sightings are made by "respectable scientists who cannot explain what they saw."

Dr. Hynek has maintained that scientists should not reject UFO reports out of hand, but rather should bring scientific skills to bear to try to determine what the really baffling instances really mean.

Perhaps the Condon committee, or some other group, will recommend scientific approaches that could reasonably be expected to resolve the UFO question to most people's satisfaction.

Such an investigation might be extremely expensive. So a first question would be whether taxpayer's money should be devoted to that kind of scientific detective work, and how much. Would such an effort be useful, or a waste?

Need Place To Detain Juveniles

Editor, Post-Crescent.

As the executive committee of the Citizens Juvenile Detention Committee, we are impelled to write you concerning the juvenile detention facilities at the county jail. The recent incidents of children being held there for lack of proper facilities has dramatically emphasized that this county urgently needs a non-secure facility (shelter-care home) where juveniles may be held temporarily pending court action. This type of home must not be confused with the recently opened group foster home for boys that will be used for long term care.

In a thorough study of detention facilities made by the League of Women Voters at Appleton and further studied and published by the Citizens Juvenile Detention Committee it was noted that many of the youths held in the jail do not need secure lock-up detention but do need to be removed from their home environment.

The present facilities are woefully inadequate. Frequent overcrowding, poor lighting, no privacy for conferences with social workers, no personnel trained specifically in juvenile work to supervise the youths in recreation space. These are but a few of the negative features.

Law enforcement and social workers in this county have for years been declaring this a great need. Our studies only reinforce what they know — the present facilities are not only inadequate but can have a serious emotional effect on the youths held there.

We have asked that immediate action be taken to employ

Total Conservation Effort Is Envisaged Under Kellett Plan

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — In the extraordinary heat of the fight about the question of setting up an integrated state Department of Natural Resources, many of the details involved were obscured or neglected among them in the public discussion.

office in opposition to the Conservation Commission's absorption into a new agency of broader mandate and view, that the state has established the machinery for a truly coordinated program of services dealing with all environmental problems.

MANY MERGERS
Comes have tended to forget or to ignore the fact that in recent years many independent and quasi-independent agencies have been set up to handle specific programs relating to natural resources management.

A year ago, the Legislature created the Natural Beauty Council as an example. The new law annexes it to the consolidated natural resources agency. There has operated for a decade and a half the Natural Resources Council of State Agencies, as a kind of super-planning and supervising group. It now becomes a part of the unified department.

There is a State Recreation Committee, devised by former Gov. Gaylord Nelson to oversee the operations of his proud program of accelerated lands acquisition when he didn't quite trust the established conservation administration to manage it in the way he desired. That will become attached to the new central department also. There is a Scientific Areas Preservation Council, explicitly established by law. It will also find a new home in the centralized department.

They will perceive as Gov. Warren Knowles is gently advising critical citizens who continue to write the executive a suitable couple to maintain their own home or to rent one for the purpose, available on a 24-hour basis for up to eight children (depending on size of the home). Winnebago County has successfully operated such a home for several years.

Our committee representatives, along with representatives of the League of Women Voters, United Community Services and the Social Workers' Action Group met several months ago with the county welfare committee. While the committee agreed on the need, there is some skepticism at the courthouse on whether there is any citizen interest in this problem. We, as committee members, know with certainty that many citizens of this county are concerned.

COORDINATION IN OPERATION
The meaning of the realignment of agencies that was accompanied by so much bitter resentment, in part because of widespread misunderstanding of motives and objectives, is the acceptance of the need for a total effort in conservation, involving not only the fishing and hunting that concern the "red shirts" of short-lived political fame, but water, and the land, and the air. A new legislative act launches a program for regulating air pollutants, and another will regulate the despoliation of scenic and land values through the disposal of solid wastes, both of which were overlooked when the "conservationists" so anxiously fought.

Chairman James Smaby of the Conservation Commission in a public statement noting the enactment of the reorganization plan said "conservation now looks forward to a harmonious period of adjustment that will hopefully be followed by growth and achievement." That was precisely what the Kellett committee had in mind, when Smaby and others were accusing it of hostile motivation.

Sport of Canoeing Making Comeback

By JIM GLEASON

MARINETTE (AP)—Canoeing shores. Vantage points are also once a vital means of transportation for Indians, trappers and racers.

Favored by higher water, a number of canoes seen on the temperatures, Stanley Hall and waterway increase with each Ralph Sawyer of Oscoda, Mich., year after a long spell when paced this year's 32-craft fleet enthusiasts of the sport were to the finish line in record time of three hours, 49 minutes.

Robbins hinted there could be a fifth division next year. After being found The last 75 miles downstream to Green Bay in five hours and six minutes, they spent considerable time urging the local committee to establish there are some easy rapids and of course, some portages.

Name Own Choice
As for distance, paddlers can name their own choice. There are numerous public landings strung along the water trail for convenient launching and landing.

A long distance pull, for instance, can start at Niagara, roughly 100 miles upstream from Marquette. For the leisurely canoeists, there are a dozen campsites along the way which also requires some six or seven portages, such as Sturgeon and Pemine Falls and at power dams.

Campsites are not hard to find but there are no communities on the river between Niagara and Marquette which means provisions should be carried. Diets can be supplemented as the river affords some good fishing and its tributaries offer a chance to land some trout.

Canoe Rentals
The increasing interest in canoeing can be evidenced by River Road Rental, located not far outside Marquette on Highway 180 which parallels the river from Marquette to McAllister.

The Rental reported it had two canoes available four years ago, now the fleet has been increased to 11 with contemplations of adding more before this season is out.

The biggest concentration of canoes, both racing and stock comes in the vicinity of the Fourth of July when the Marquette Area Chamber of Commerce sponsors its annual Menominee River Canoe Race. The event, five years old this year, has entered itself as one of the leading paddling events in the Midwest.

The event, a two-man team affair, attracts professionals, amateurs and women from Minnesota, Michigan and Illinois as well as Wisconsin. From a beginning of one division, the race now has four classifications. The professionals and amateurs using racing craft while women and Men-Men division paddle stock canoes. The latter class is strictly for Marquette and Menominee Mich. entries.

Ideal Race
George Robbins, manager of the Area Chamber of Commerce, says the professionals consider the event an ideal one-day race. They point to the distance—33 miles from Bear Point downstream to the finish line near Marquette—as a fine competitive length.

The course has one portage at Grand Rapids dam and several rapids including Grand, Tappan, Burkes, Twin Islands and Chapin. The portage comes after a long bend in the river some 10 or 11 miles from the start. Women paddle a shorter course of 14 miles.

The outside canoeists also are impressed with the scenic beauty and find enjoyment from the vocal encouragement shouted by the cottagers and year-around

Mathews Wishes 500th Homer of Career Had Been Against Braves

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"I wish it would have come against the Braves," Eddie Mathews commented after he hit the 500th homer of his major league career, against the San Francisco Giants Friday night.

Mathews hit his historic homer off Juan Marichal in the sixth inning and it put the Houston Astros ahead for the final time in an 8-6 victory.

"Don't ask me how many I hope to hit," Mathews said as he popped the cork of a bottle of champagne in the dressing room.

"It was tough enough to get this one. I was trying to hit it in Philadelphia and then against Chicago, but didn't. When I got to San Francisco I thought I would forget about it and just swing the bat."

Some Success
Mathews said his luck against Marichal has not been particularly good in the past. But he said he has had some success against him.

"He has a good screwball and left handed hitters. But I hit a Nitzke, Borth, and Dick Jensen fast ball."

Oshkosh's Bob Austin eclipsed the track record for last time Nichols, a 17-year-old high school student. He was intrinsically good to Mathews and given the old record was held another baseball and $50 to reward the place the one he gave to the Houston star.

Mathews said he expected the pressure to start building as he closed in on Mel Ott's homer total of 511. Ott stands third on the all-time list of left-handed home run hitters.

"Don't start that stuff already," Mathews said. "I'd like to pass Ott and I think with any luck I can this season."

Mathews' boyhood idol was Ted Williams, although he never saw the Boston star play.

Ironically, Mathews may pass Williams in the home run derby.

Williams finished his career with 521 homers.

First in 1952

Mathews recalled his first major league homer which came against Ken Heintzelman of Philadelphia in 1952.

"Our manager at Boston (Tommy Holmes) was getting ready to bench me until I hit the homer," Mathews said.

Eddie was philosophical about the plateau he has reached.

"No matter how many homers you hit, someone else comes along to pass you," he said.

Mathews hit his 499th homer off Ray Culp of the Chicago Cubs July 8. He said he was happy he hit his 500th homer in Candlestick Park where the wind favors a left-handed hitter.

"If I had hit that ball in the Astrodom, I would still be running," he said.

168 Boats in Chicago to Mackinac Race

New Record for Crafts, Entered In 333-Mile Event

CHICAGO (AP)—One record was broken before the sailing race from Chicago to Mackinac Island got started today.

That was the number of entries—168.

Sunny skies and variable winds buoyed hopes for good weather on the 333-mile trip.

The race committee arranged a timetable for departures of boats in six divisions between 1 p.m. and 2:15 p.m. CDT, with the big craft leaving Chicago's downtown lakefront last.

The increase in entries reflects the growth in boating in general.

Pat Cody, the race chairman, said the most notable increase has been in craft 40 feet long or longer.

73-Foot Boat

Much interest was focused on the big boats. Among them was Escapade, a 73-footer owned by Peter Grimm of Chicago. Escapade won the 1951 Mackinac Island race.

Escapade won the 1951 Mackinac Island race, and returned to the competition after spending the intervening years in the Atlantic Ocean.

Sizable prerace eye catchers included Norsaga, owned by Harry Ziemann of Milwaukee; Mitena, owned by a group of men who live in Grand Rapids; and Esbro VI, owned by the Spanjer brothers.

The 1966 winner, Blitzer, was not entered in the 1967 sailing—60th for the race.

Cody said operators of power boats have been asked to avoid Mackinac Island's harbor around the time of the race's finish.

"The harbor up there," he said, "simply is not big enough for everyone."

Marichal Bows to Mathews' Hit, 8-6; Reds Tip Mets, 1-0

Cepeda, Javier Pace Cards Win; Los Angeles Downs Cubs, 5-2

BY DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

If Ed Mathews could call his shots, the Atlanta Braves would be a lot more embarrassed than Juan Marichal today.

"I wish it would have come against the Braves," Mathews said Friday night after smashing the 500th home run of his major league career—a three-run shot off Marichal that carried Houston to an 8-6 victory over San Francisco.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati nipped the New York Mets 1-0 in 10 innings. St. Louis edged Pittsburgh 2-1. Atlanta topped Philadelphia 4-2 and Los Angeles downed the Chicago Cubs 5-2.

Mathews connected on Marichal's first pitch following singles by Jim Wynn and Rusty Staub in the sixth inning, giving the Astros a 6-4 lead they never relinquished. Rookie Norm Miller had tagged Marichal for a three-run homer in the fourth, helping foil the Giant ace's bid to become the majors' first 13-game winner.

Hook in Duel

Rookie Gary Nolan of Cincinnati hooked up in a scoreless duel with the Mets' Jack Fisher until the 10th inning, when Tony Perez' bases-loaded single won it for the Reds. Nolan allowed only five hits in gaining his eighth victory in 10 decisions.

Perez, whose 15th inning homer Tuesday night gave the NL All Stars a 2-1 victory over the American League, delivered the winning hit after a two-out walk to Floyd Robinson, a single by Vada Pinson and an intentional pass to Pete Rose filled the bases.

Orlando Cepeda's pinch hit single drove in the tying run in the seventh inning and Julian Javier scored one out later on a throwing error by left fielder Jose Pagan, sending the Cardinals past Pittsburgh.

Rico Carly pounded a three-run homer in the first inning and Hank Aaron provided an insurance run with his 23rd homer as the Braves held off the Phillies. Winner Tony Cloninger gave up a first-inning homer to Tony Gonzalez and needed relief help in the seventh.

Snap Loss String

The Dodgers snapped a four-game losing string behind rookie Bill Singer, who blanked Chicago on four hits until the eighth, when he came up with a tender elbow and gave way to Ron Perranoski. Lou Johnson cracked a two-run double and Al Ferrara homered to pace the LA attack.

Call Special Board Session To Mull Runway Changes

Thickness Of Strip Questioned

OSHKOSH — A special meeting of the Winnebago County Board has been requested for July 25 to consider changes in the runway project at the Winnebago County Airport.

Petitions for the special meeting were circulated Friday under the name of Supv. Alvin Staffeld, Neenah, chairman of the Aviation Committee. The signatures of 24 supervisors are needed for the special session to be called.

The action came after Airport Manager S. J. Wittman conferred with state aeronautics officials in Madison and got confirmation that project financial figures examined by the committee Thursday night were correctly interpreted.

The county committee, upon the recommendation of Wittman, is seeking to have the runway specifications changed to increase the thickness of the concrete from eight to 10 inches. This would add a total of $54,234 to the project, $41,436 of which would be the county's share.

County Corporation Counsel Gerald Engeldinger said this change required county board approval.

State Aeronautics Commission figures Thursday indicated that even with this additional expenditure, the county would still have $67,000 extra in the project fund as a result of the original Ward, Jane Jenkel, Robert bids being lower than the estimated costs upon which the county's appropriation had been based.

However, the Aviation Committee wanted further confirmation of those figures before of the kind of work they may expect in college.

for a special meeting of the concrete work is approved, additional base work also will be needed which may cause the contractor to be delayed until the July 25 meeting day.

Wittman recommended laying the thicker concrete after it was discovered within the last month that other airports were experiencing runway breakup with eight-inch concrete for certain types of medium-sized law will be implemented by Koerner and Le Roy Spielbauer administration, a top-notch in-structural staff, the best in structural equipment and adequate plant and a full program of

Vocational Head Outlines Expanded Area Programs

William Sirek, district administrator of VTE-12, area vocational, technical and adult education, gave the board a glimpse of what he has in mind for a program to be offered post-high school graduates in Calumet, Outagamie, Waupaca and Winnebago counties, at its first regular board meeting Friday night.

An outline of the administrative structure also was offered for the board's consideration, if the program is to provide two year associate degrees and one year vocational certificates for the boys and girls within the total area.

The first step will be for the administration to pull together some of the present programs, making better utilization of staff and space the District Director said. Another significant change will be the increase of numbers of girls enrolled in the courses, stepping up the present ratio of five boys to one girl among last year's 150 to 160 graduates from the six schools.

Expect Increase

There were approximately 800 full-time students enrolled in year-around programs, who attend schools five days a week, 38 weeks of the year, three fourths of them in associate degree programs Sirek expects there will be an increase of from 30 to 35 per cent during 1968, compared to last year's enrollment.

If the area board and administration is to assume full responsibility in offering vocational and technical programs to all post graduates in the District 12 area, it will have to give full consideration to five basic concepts of the new training idea being incorporated under the state and federal vocational act of 1963," Sirek summarized.

Broaden Program

We must include persons preparing for the labor market, persons in the labor market who are forced to acquire new skills, persons in the labor market who are seeking to upgrade their skills, persons in agriculture, the homemaking professions, the illiterates and those with limited education, and persons in social problems. The salient factors of quality vocational training to meet the provisions of the law will be implemented by Koerner and Le Roy Spielbauer administration, a top-notch in-structural staff, the best in structural equipment and adequate plant and a full program of

A program of depth, as recommended by the State Vocational Board, means that VTE-12 will offer instruction in six areas, namely: trade and industry, business and distributive health services, graphic and applied arts, agriculture and wage-related jobs and home economics and home economic wage-related courses. The breadth of these programs will be measured by sufficient training opportunities within occupational areas to suit the two-year associate degree programs are: accounting, data processing, electronics, marketing, mechanical design, and the secretarial science at Appleton; and accounting, conservation, electronics, marketing, mechanical design and secretarial science at Oshkosh. Automotive office midmanagement are offered at Oshkosh.

Associate degree courses offer the two-year course in nursing approximately 50 per cent academic study and 50 per cent applied arts.

New Demands

There already are demands for new courses allied to the paper and foundry industries in the area, such as chemical and physical metallurgy, Sirek reported. The medical profession has indicated it needs more dental and medical assistants. There also may be considered a two-year course in nursing Ex-

Speedy Action by Warden Saves Boy From Drowning

Lad Caught Below Dam In Menasha

MENASHA — An apprentice conservation warden was credited with saving the life of a 14-year-old Menasha youth who was dragged into the tumbling undercurrent below the Menasha dam Friday night.

Thomas Van Dyke, 502 Keyes St., was listed in satisfactory condition this morning in Theda Clark Memorial Hospital where he was taken after being pulled unconscious from the water by Warden Donald Gruber, who worked over the lad about five minutes before reviving him.

Police said the Van Dyke youth was diving below the dam for fishing lures with Chris and Mike Cyrus, 616 Keyes St., when he became caught in the current at the foot of the dam spillway near the Menasha Corp. warehouse on the north bank.

Gruber, who went on Warden duty about a year ago, after several years as a State Forest Ranger, came on the scene during routine rounds to check fishermen at the dam.

He saw the Cyrus boys in the water at the foot of the dam and heard one scream, "he's dead. He's dead." Gruber ran back to his car, parked at the south end of the Mill Street bridge near the Geo. Banta Co. and pulled an armful of life preservers from the boat he had been towing. He threw these from the bridge to the Cyrus boys and ran to a point where he could enter the water.

Gruber saw one leg of the Van Dyke boy above the water at one point. By the time Gruber reached the boys, Chris Neenah, Menasha and Oshkosh, Cyrus had tugged his unconscious companion from the grip of the current.

Gruber first attempted mouth-to-mouth resuscitation on the youth but was unsuccessful. He turned the victim over and applied pressure to his back to pump water from the air passages. Then he resumed the mouth-to-mouth technique and brought the boy to consciousness.

A Neenah Fire Department ambulance took the youth to the hospital.

Gruber, 27, has been working under Warden Dale Morey, 1106 W. Glendale Ave., Appleton, after several years with the Forest Protection Division of the Conservation Department at Nekeosa.

Morey said this morning that lifesaving techniques are part of a conservation department worker's training. "It is fortunate that Don had the presence of mind to jump in and put it to use," he said.

The rescue is the second in the past month at the Menasha dam, which claimed an outboard pleasure boat recently. A Menasha man then leaped into the water to save a small girl.

Creative Group, Biddle Firm Tell Merger

Robert O'Brien to Sever Connections With Company

Creative Group Inc., Appleton advertising and travel agency, announced a merger with the Biddle Company, a national advertising agency, effective immediately. The partnership will be the Biddle organization, which is headquartered in Bloomington, with offices in Chicago, Kansas City, Los Angeles and Little Rock, Ark.

Creative group will operate as a division of Biddle and will remain headquartered in the Conway Motor Hotel and will keep its present staff.

No change in policy is contemplated by the Appleton firm in the near future though in time an interchange of people and services may be effected.

Robert V. O'Brien, Creative Group president, said he will shortly sever his connection with the company. He reported he is selling his interest in the company to Biddle and will remain active only until all details of the merger have been completed and the transitional needs of Creative Group clients have been met. He estimated this would be within three months.

Founded in Appleton

Creative Group was founded in 1959 in Appleton. It now has 24 employees and billings of approximately $2 million. The Biddle Co. was organized in 1941 by Everett D. Biddle, presently chairman of the board. It has 168 employees, 40 national clients in 11 states and billings in the 18 million dollar range.

The merger offer was accepted by Creative Group to strengthen its competitive position in the expanding state industrial economy and to make available more staff services than its current size permitted. The Biddle Co., which had five advertising accounts in Wisconsin prior to the merger, has now improved its ability to serve existing business in the area and to handle new accounts.

O'Brien, a twenty year veteran of the advertising agency business, indicated that he will remain active in the advertising field, but does not intend to accept a new position until late in the year.

Builders Want Subdividing Fee Abolished

Bill in Assembly Would Affect Laws In Appleton, Neenah

Abolishment of laws in Appleton, Neenah and other Wisconsin cities — requiring dedication of cash or land payment as condition of subdivision development — is being sought by the Wisconsin Builders Association.

A bill was recently introduced in the State Assembly at the request of the Association and provides that: "No municipality may require, as a condition of subdivision approval, any dedication of land for a general public purpose or any payment of money in lieu of such dedication."

Neenah for many years has had legislation requiring developers to pay $300 per acre when platting and subdividing tracts of land brought into the city.

Appleton earlier this year adopted a law requiring developers of new subdivisions to dedicate a percentage of the land for park and school site purposes.

In lieu of dedicating land, there is a set fee of $120 per lot for school and $80 per lot for park site fund purposes. There was little open opposition to the policy when adopted by the city council.

City officials said the law was needed for several reasons, especially to plug loopholes where some subdivision developers were attempting to escape payment of special assessments, or made the city bus acreage for required street extensions when the normal procedure is to have streets platted and dedicated.

Merchants Protest Soldiers Square Pedestrian Walk

Say Removal of Parking Spaces Would Cause Loss of Shoppers

The proposed downtown Soldiers Square pedestrian walk immediately north of the new parking ramp may be in trouble before it gets to the drawing board.

Several businessmen and building owners in the 100 block of E. College Avenue have filed a letter with the common council stating their objection.

Their main reason for being against the walk, which would be bounded by the back of their buildings on the south side of E. College Avenue, the 450-car parking structure, Oneida Street and Morrison Street, is that 23 parking meters would have to be removed.

Judge Slates Hearing in Theft Case

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County Juvenile Judge James G. Sarres Friday set a hearing for July 28 in the case of a 16-year-old Oshkosh boy charged with purse snatching. The hearing will determine whether Judge Sarres will waive jurisdiction and transfer the case to criminal court.

Proceedings against a 15-year-old boy involved in the same case have been adjourned day to day until reports from area police departments are complete.

Officers from Appleton and Outagamie County have been involved in the case, since the boys are believed to have snatched purses in Appleton, Neenah, Menasha and Oshkosh. Police in the Fox Cities received reports of 11 attempted purse snatchings between June 24 and 30.

Three of six attempts in Appleton were successful. There was one attempt in the parking lot of the 41 Bowl in the Town of Grand Chute.

One purse was taken from a Neenah woman, while snatchers were successful in one of three attempts in Menasha. Several incidents also occurred in Oshkosh.

Copies were sent to the mayor.

Loss of Income

He claimed there would be loss of meter income and that it would cost too much for mall maintenance.

"Won't you help us keep our parking meters?" Damrow wrote.

Need Parking

The petition, circulated by Emmanuel Damrow, a restaurant operator, said the space needed for the mall was of more value for parking purposes.

Signers claimed it would take too much time for shoppers to park in the adjacent parking ramp. They suggested the 23 meters — now mounted on huge cement bunkers — be moved to the south which would still leave some room for a pedestrian area, resulting in a compromise.

Arrives Direct From Factory

SEYMOUR — There is new excitement down on the Belle City Amusements' midway at the Outagamie County Fair over the arrival late Friday of a long awaited new ride.

The $45,000 Tip Top arrived about 6 p.m. still packed on the truck which brought it on a long, 2,300-mile journey from the factory in Salem, Ore.

The ride is believed to be one of the few operating in the Upper Midwest. Factory representatives who accompanied the truck carrying the 38,000-pound ride joined workers from the amusement company in preparing the ride for immediate assembly.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Panicek, co-owners of Belle City, were on hand on the midway when the ride arrived. Panicek said the ride originally had been scheduled to arrive earlier in the week in time to be assembled with the other rides.

However, delays at the factory altered the original schedule. The Paniceks first saw the ride while wintering last year in Florida where they attended the Tampa State Fair. The fair is used by ride firms as a testing ground.

Late Ride Excites Fair Midway

Parts of the ride did not accompany the long truck on the journey and were being flown in to Austin Straubel Airport in Green Bay. The truck left Monday morning.

The ride has a number of year solid color buckets which sit on a platform. By a combination of electricity, compressed air and hydraulic jacks, the platform is lifted high in the air and then suddenly with a squish of air was one of only a few operating in the Midwest.
